EXPERIMENT BY UBC

This tank is part of the equipment at the city pollution control centre for an experiment to remove phosphor-ous from sewage. Being carried out by the University of B.C., the experiment is part of the increasing emphasis on removal of nutrients from Okanagan Lake. Sludge will be destroyed in the incinerator. The experiment will last about six months. Shown is sub foreman Matte Switzer.

LeDain Drug Report Stand Termed 'Unfair' By CMA

OTTAWA (CP) — The LeDain commission's stinging contention that drug abuse is a major public health problem that few doctors have faced squarely drew a cry of "unfair" today from the Canadian Medical Association.

Conceding that doctors have been prescribing too many mood pills and that the profession's attitude to non-medical drug users has been "negative," the association said "a marked improvement in attitudes and abilities" has developed.

The association reiterated its position that non-medical use of drugs is "not a medical problem but a social problem with medical manifestations."

"To anticipate or expect medicine to provide the answers to the multitude of problems involved is both inappropriate and unrealistic."

Part 1 of the LeDain report on non-medical use of drugs, released Jan. 26, included a number of biting comments about the medical profession's handling of the drug problem.

Among them:

—Drug use was the first major public health problem the profession hadn't played a leading role in meeting. Few doctors had faced it squarely;

—Although alcoholism was the No. 1 drug problem, and had been for some time, treatment facilities still had success rates either "discouraging, mediocre or unknown." Doctors spend untold hours treating the illness and injuries that sprang from alcoholism but didn't treat primary dependence;

—The whole approach to Canada's mental health problems would have to come under scrutiny once the "present emergency situation created by disturbed youth" was met. Recommending extensive use of drop-in centres, informal clinics and so on, the commission said it had placed "minimal reliance" on traditional agencies such as hospitals, whose "over-all service philosophy" didn't correspond to current needs of youth.

The CMA, in a formal statement in reply to the LeDain report, said the commission overlooked "a marked improvement in the attitudes and abilities of the profession."

Youths, particularly in Montreal and Toronto, were turning to hospitals rather than street clinics for help with drug problems.

"The commission's report makes no acknowledgment of these changes. To single out the profession for this almost completely negative criticism is unfair."

Doctors and hospital personnel, like everyone else, had been "caught unprepared to effectively deal with this phenomenon."

The CMA said it wants to assure the public that it will meet its responsibilities "regarding the medical aspects of the non-medical use of drugs."

'Misery Monday' In Britain Due To Electric Power Cuts

LONDON (AP) — Electric power cuts brought on by Britain's coal strike threw thousands out of work today.

St. Valentine's Day became "Misery Monday" across the country. The stock market plummeted and the value of the pound sterling dropped.

The Opposition Labor party prepared a motion of censure in the House of Commons against the Conservative government.

The government warned of a possible total shutdown in two weeks if the strike of mineworkers doesn't end.

Violent clashes between picketing mineworkers and police broke out in a number of points in England and Scotland.

Rail services around London and other industrial centres were disrupted. Thousands arrived at their offices to be told to go home because of power cuts in sector after sector.

The picture in industry was confused but it was clear that thousands were laid off as factories went on a government-decreased half-time operation.

Hardest hit was the state-owned British Steel giant, which laid off 5,000 workers, and the motor firms, Britain's biggest export industry. Jaguar motors halted all production at its Coventry plant and sent 3,500 home. Triumph motors laid off 2,500. Rovers halted all car production. The company said all of its 14,000 workers will be affected some time during the week.

Nine plants of Joseph Lucas, makers of car batteries and other parts, closed, throwing 13,000 production workers out of jobs. A spokesman said the rest of the firm's 21,000 employees will be hit progressively.

Ford of Britain said it hopes to keep going on its own emergency generators.

More than 70,000 schoolchildren were sent home in South Wales because of the lack of power to heat and light the schools.

Ceasefire Halts Big U.S. Push

SAIGON (AP) — A 24-hour United States-South Vietnamese ceasefire for the Tet (lunar new year) holiday halted one of the biggest U.S. air campaigns of the war in South Vietnam today after more than 800 strikes in six days. Scores of U.S. bombers were diverted into Laos to attack North Vietnamese supply lines there.

The U.S. command reported that navy and air force fighter-bombers flew 176 strikes in South Vietnam during the 24 hours before dawn today, and B-52 heavy bombers added another 27 missions, the most flown since June, 1968.

Explosion In Manila Kills 16

MANILA (AP) — A powerful explosion, believed set off by a Second World War Japanese bomb, some chemical compounds or dynamite, blew up a section of a thickly-populated residential area in this Philippines capital today.

Initial police reports said 16 persons were killed. About 70 others were injured and taken to hospital. Many victims were children.

Military bomb-disposal experts theorized the blast—which wrecked a factory, homes and a school—was caused by a bomb left over from a Japanese ammunition depot. The Japanese occupied the Philippines in the Second World War.

Manila Police Chief Gerardo Tamayo, however, said there were indications the explosion was not caused by a bomb, but by dynamite or chemical compounds. He said police found no shrapnel in the debris.

The explosion occurred about 4 p.m. when neighborhood children were either attending classes in the school next to a plastics factory or playing outdoors. The blast came from the motor pool of the factory, officials said.

The explosion caused a 30-minute fire and dug a crater five feet deep and 10 feet in diameter. About 20 houses around the factory were damaged, 10 of them wrecked.

Singer Unable To Testify

NEW YORK (AP) — The beautiful, blonde Baroness Nina van Pallandt was unable to testify in the Clifford Irving case today because not enough grand jurors showed up to make a quorum.

The law says at least 16 of 22 must be present to hear testimony, but there were only 11 there when the Danish cabaret singer arrived at the federal courthouse to tell what she claims to know about author Irving and his alleged relationship with Howard Hughes. The grand jury is investigating Irving's "autobiography" of Hughes.

WORLD NEWS IN A MINUTE

Buildup Condemned

PEKING (Reuters) — China condemned again a buildup of United States air and naval strength in the Indochina war theatre today and attacked U.S. President Nixon's latest peace plan just a week before he is due in Peking.

Mass Graves Seen

DACCA (Reuters) — Senator Edward M. Kennedy of the United States said mass graves in Bangladesh today and called the killings there "the greatest human tragedy in modern times." He was touring the town of Kushtia, where up to 50,000 Bengalis are believed to have died in the conflict against the former Pakistani regime.

Operation Success

BELGRADE (AP) — Vesna Vulovic, the blonde stewardess who survived a 32,000-foot fall from an exploded airplane, underwent successful surgery today in Prague, the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reported.

Roads, Fire Claim Three In B.C. During Weekend

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Four men died when a light plane with six passengers aboard crashed shortly after takeoff in Northern Ontario Saturday night.

The crash, whose victims were among 29 persons who died accidentally in Canada during the weekend, occurred shortly after takeoff from Gore Bay, 80 miles southwest of Sudbury.

A survey by The Canadian Press showed that in addition to the crash victims, 15 Canadians died in traffic, seven in fires, one by asphyxiation and one in a snowmobile mishap.

The survey covered the period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday night, local times.

The 15 weekend traffic deaths, together with 33 in the previous week, brings the number of persons killed on Canadian roads since Jan. 1 to at least 284.

Canada's only weekend snowmobile victim, combined with three in the previous week, brings the snowmobile death toll since Jan. 1 to at least 60.

Ontario accounted for 15 of the accidental deaths. Besides the plane crash victims, eight died in traffic, one by asphyxiation, one in a fire and one in the snowmobile mishap.

Quebec had four fire deaths and three traffic fatalities, for a total of seven.

In Nova Scotia, two persons died in fires and one in traffic.

British Columbia reported two traffic deaths and one in a fire and Manitoba one.

Newfoundland, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Saskatchewan and Alberta were fatality free.

Russia Launches Another Spaceship

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government launched another unmanned spaceship—Luna 20—toward the moon today, Tass announced.

The official Soviet news agency said it was sent up for further exploration of the moon and near-lunar space.

Tass said the space station's equipment was functioning normally and its trajectory was close to the one estimated for it. It said the ground control station was maintaining reliable radio contact with the station.

The last Soviet moon probe, Luna 19, was launched Sept. 28 and went into orbit around the moon on Oct. 3. It was still functioning at last report.

Luna 18 crashed into the moon Sept. 11 while trying to make a soft landing.

Luna 20 was shot toward the moon from an artificial satellite orbiting the earth, Tass said.

There was a possibility the new shot would try a soft landing. Western scientific observers believed the mission of Luna 19 was to make photographs from which to choose landing sites after the crash of Luna 18.

Two previous moon missions—Luna 16 and Luna 17—made successful soft landings in 1970.

Luna 16 was the first unmanned craft to land on the moon and return to earth with lunar samples. Luna 17 landed the Lunokhod 1 moon rover, and the eight-wheel vehicle carried out reconnaissance missions.

Weather Adds To Troubles As Many Flights Cancelled

BULLETIN

TORONTO (CP) — A union official said today technicians involved in a wage-contract dispute with the federal government had overwhelmingly rejected at most points a compromise increase recommended by a mediator.

With Montreal the only major centre still to report, the national vote appeared to be almost a resounding "no."

Air Canada's Viscount service to Cleveland and Marquette points out of Toronto was cancelled today and traffic elsewhere was disrupted as the men who service the navigational aids essential to safe air travel appeared to be rejecting a settlement offer in their wage-contract dispute with the federal government.

Weather conditions also were a factor in weekend delays in passenger service at airports across the country. Overcast limited visibility at Montreal and Toronto and high winds and rain forced cancellation of several commercial flights at Halifax. Delays in landing and take-off were reported elsewhere.

From Ottawa came word from union leaders that the 2,200 members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers at 400 locations apparently were rejecting a ratification vote compromise proposals worked out in negotiations in the capital.

CBC Technicians Off Job In Seven Western Centres

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

CBC technicians were off the job today in seven Western Canadian centres and in Montreal, N.B., as rotating strikes continued against the network's radio and television services.

In Edmonton, technicians who walked out Sunday afternoon were turned away by management today when they refused to guarantee they would work a full shift. A CBC spokesman said that a picket line was set up but removed later.

At Calgary, technicians were not working today, following action by six members Sunday night at the CBC television relay centre. The Sunday night walkout caused a brief delay in Walt Disney's Wonderful World of Color which was being relayed to Vancouver.

The 33 technicians picketed CBC headquarters today in Calgary, saying they had been locked out. As in other centres, management has demanded a guarantee from workers that they will not walk out during a shift.

Technicians in Vancouver have been off the job since Tuesday and were joined today by those in four Saskatchewan centres—Moose Jaw, Regina, Saskatoon and Watrous.

The Vancouver workers remained off the job today when management continued to insist that the technicians pledge to complete a full shift before returning to work.

A CBC spokesman in Toronto said management was maintaining service across the country.

The 2,200 technicians, members of the National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians, have been carrying on rotating strikes since Jan. 21. They rejected a conciliation board report recommending a six-per-cent wage increase retroactive to last July and an additional 4 1/2 per cent next July in a 21-month contract.

Liberal Loses Elected Seat

SASKATOON (CP) — The election of Liberal Allan Guy in the June 23 Saskatchewan provincial election was overturned today under the Controverted Elections Act.

The ruling by Judge A. H. Bence means another election will be called in the Athabasca constituency unless an unsuccessful appeal is launched by Mr. Guy.

Mr. Guy's lawyers said they may appeal the ruling.

The former municipal affairs minister defeated Robert Dalby of the New Democratic Party. Election night counting showed him six votes ahead, but a judicial recount in July gave him a 12-vote edge.

A petition by a La Ronge, Sask., businessman was heard in court of Queen's Bench and Judge Bence ruled that 25 ballots were cast by persons not eligible to vote. Some were ineligible to vote because they were not resident in Athabasca constituency while others had not lived in the riding the six months required for them to vote.

General Executed By Firing Squad

PARIS (AP) — A Romanian general has been executed by a firing squad for passing secret information on Romanian defences to the Soviet Union, an authoritative diplomatic source reported today.

The officer was identified as Gen. Ion Serb, who had been chief of the Bucharest military garrison; chief of Military Region 2 and a member of the Grand National Assembly, the Romanian parliament.

The information said Serb was shot some time last month after his arrest at the end of 1971 and a subsequent trial before a military court.

Bangladesh Recognized

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada is granting diplomatic recognition to Bangladesh, formerly East Pakistan, External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp announced today.

Mr. Sharp told a news conference that he hoped both Bangladesh and West Pakistan would join the Commonwealth, and expressed confidence that Canadian relations with the West Pakistan government would remain friendly.

He said planes, during one time in the afternoon, were stacked 1,000-feet apart in elevation and that some planes had to circle above the airport for two hours without radar.

He stressed however that there "was absolutely no safety risk" in stacking in this manner.

"It is just an extremely tiring procedure for the pilots and a strain on the controllers," he said. "It's just slower than ordinary procedures, but not more dangerous."

He said a snowstorm which began at about 2 p.m. EST and continued after dark had forced traffic controllers to abandon visual flight rules which enable planes to land without electronic equipment.

BOMBINGS IN BELFAST

IRA Presses On With Battle

BELFAST (AP) — Four bombs exploded in the Belfast area today as the outlawed Irish Republican Army pressed on with its battle to end Northern Ireland's links with Britain. No one was reported injured in the blasts.

The bombs wrecked a bank, an office building and a furniture store. The fourth target was a paint store, which was extensively damaged.

The first bomb was left in the doorway of the Belfast Savings Bank on King Street, a busy shopping and office thoroughfare a block from the centre of the city. The bank manager spotted the bag and raised an alarm.

Police quickly cleared hundreds of shoppers and office workers from the street. The bomb exploded within 10 minutes, wrecking the bank building. It blew out windows over a wide area but no one was hurt because of the quick clearing of the street.

A second bomb wrecked the Northern Ireland headquarters of Rank Xerox, the British offshoot of the American Xerox copying and office equipment firm. Police said two armed men broke into the building at 9 a.m. and planted a bomb, but the staff cleared the building quickly and no one was injured.

There was sporadic shooting during the night between British troops and guerrilla gunmen.

MARINES SHOOT 2

Marines shot and captured two men who they said were trying to raid a shirt factory at Ligoniel, west of Belfast. One was reported critically wounded. Three other men escaped in a car that later was found abandoned in downtown Belfast.

Four thousand Catholics staged another illegal but peaceful march Sunday to demand immediate withdrawal of British troops from Ulster, abolition of the Northern Ireland Parliament and a halt to the jailing of guerrilla suspects without trial.

Troops and police did not interfere with the march in Enniskillen, a lakeside resort town 65 miles southwest of Belfast, and the Catholics made it a short one.

Then they held a rally at which speakers rejected a compromise that reports from London say the British government is considering. It would include a Catholic as deputy prime minister of Northern Ireland and a quota of Catholics in the Ulster cabinet.

Kevin Agnew, vice-president of the Catholic-based Civil Rights Association, said prominent Catholic politicians would shun a position in the Ulster cabinet.

STOPPED BY BARRICADES

The rally originally was scheduled for the centre of Enniskillen, but the marchers moved back to a housing project in another part of town after encountering barricades thrown up by British troops.

It was the second peaceful demonstration in as many Sunday after the Jan. 30 "Bloody Sunday" march in Londonderry in which British paratroopers killed 13 civilians.

In Dublin, capital of the Irish Republic, 10,000 persons flocked to a rally featuring Irish Republican Army leaders Joe Cahill and Sean MacStiofain. That rally also was peaceful.

TO THE VICTORS, THE SPOILS

Prince George skip Kevin Smale finds that winning has its own rewards, as he is congratulated with a kiss from

Daphne Creighton of Vancouver, with MacDonald's, one of the sponsors of the B.C. Curling Association Conley Herrell, awaits her turn while Smale's lead, Jack Hocky, watches with a grin in anticipation.

KDRS HEAD DISAGREES

'It Seems Reasonable' Roth Says Of Budget

The 1972 provincial budget "seems reasonable," according to Mayor Hilbert Roth.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett announced a $1,151,963,421 budget, up $151,270,821 from the last fiscal year. It included a $15 extra grant to homeowners, making a total of $185, with $50 more for people 65 or more years old, and a raise in money available for prospective owners.

The mayor expressed pleasure at the raise in grants for homeowners, but thought more should have been given. He suggested consideration should be given to people 65 and over who rent.

Mayor Roth disagreed with the premier's statement B.C. is a debt-free province. "Most municipalities are burdened with debt," he said.

"No comment at present," said W. C. Bennett, chairman of the Regional District of Central Okanagan board, no relative of the premier.

E. F. M. Hill, president of the Kelowna and District Retirement Services, said the budget discriminated by not giving allowances to elderly people who rent accommodation.

He said many elderly couples, like himself and his wife, have no further need for houses, so live in apartments. But some of their rent goes for taxes.

The KDRS president branded the fact that retired people have to pay school taxes "archaic" since they have paid to educate their children.

"Retired people are getting fed up with being the forgotten entity," he said, warning this might be expressed in elections for the provincial and federal governments, expected this year.

FOUR LANE WORK EXPECTED SOON

Building two more highway lanes between Reid's Corner and Winfield will start as soon as weather permits, district highways engineer A. L. Freebairn said today. He could not estimate how long it would take.

The B.C. highways department plans to make four lanes on Highway 97 to Winfield.

Various groups have urged this be continued to Vernon. The Winfield-Vernon section has been labelled "the death stretch" because of the number of fatal accidents on it.

No Effect At Airport

A strike by federal government technicians across Canada has not had much effect at Kelowna airport, it was reported today.

The men, who operate electronic equipment at airports and for government departments, are members of Local 2228, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, striking because of a dispute with the federal treasury board.

Pacific Western Airlines reported no delays because of the strike. Two electronics workers for Interior Industrial Electric Ltd., subcontractors on a control tower at the airport, have refused to cross a picket line. However, Jack Weston, office manager for Douillard Construction Ltd., general contractors, said this is not holding up work much.

Jim Whiteside, one of three city members of the local, was on picket duty today at the airport. Pickets were at the airport and Federal Building last week. If help is provided by other members from Penticton, there may again be pickets at the Queensway Avenue building.

Premier's Son 'Big Breeder'

A son of Premier W. A. C. Bennett, who operates a ranch near Westbank, was referred to last week in a debate in the legislature at Victoria.

Alex Macdonald, NDP MP for Vancouver East, said Premier Bennett listened to big horse breeders before he gave orders that the one per cent pari-mutuel portion given to encourage breeders should be limited to owners of B.C.-bred horses.

Mr. Macdonald referred to Russell J. Bennett, operator of the Flying Horse Ranch, as one of the big breeders.

Services Tuesday For Gustav From

Funeral services will be held Tuesday for Gustav Wilhelm From, 79, of 740 Boyce Rd., who died Friday.

He is survived by his wife Ellen; three sons, Oliver of Bentley, Alta., Helge of Osoyoos, Ingvald of Greenwood; two daughters, Mrs. Charles Mores of Grand Forks, Mrs. Murray Mitchell of Port McNeill; nine grandchildren and six great grandchildren; two brothers, Ludvig of Kelowna, the other in Sweden and two sisters, both in Sweden.

Rev. John Davidson will officiate 1:30 p.m. in Day's Funeral Home. Burial will be in Kelowna Cemetery.

... Sleet

The weatherman is a little mixed up, offering a promise of rain mixed with snow Tuesday accompanied by continuing mild temperatures in the 30 degree range. Highs and lows in the city Saturday were 42 and 28 with a trace of precipitation, compared with 40 and 18 and a trace of snow at the airport for the same day. High and low in the city Sunday were 45 and 28 with no precipitation, compared with 44 and 25 and a trace of snow at the airport for the same day. Overnight low today should be near 30 degrees.

Rutland Cited As Example Why Zoning Controls Needed

Rapid residential growth in Rutland has attracted the attention of the North Okanagan Regional District, which has cited the community, most of which is on septic tanks, as an example of why certain growth controls are essential.

The regional board has indicated a unanimous desire to institute zoning regulations in unorganized areas, but feels the whole question of regional zoning and planning should be introduced with as little conflict with public opinion as possible. "Nothing is going to be shoved down anyone's throat that will not benefit the majority," according to chairman Russ Postill, mayor of Coldstream, a district municipality adjacent to Vernon.

Mr. Postill said, however, that considering the growth of the area, some types of controls are essential, "or else we will finish up with the same problems as Rutland — 10,000 people living on septic tanks."

The board has approved a policy of introducing zoning controls and tentatively approved a proposed draft zoning by-law. Before instituting the by-law or controls, an extensive information campaign will be conducted to inform rural residents of the intent.

Higher Throughout Watershed Heavy Spring Runoff Expected

This year's snowpack in the Okanagan Basin is described by the Water Resources Service of the Department of Lands and Forests as "above to well above average."

The report states "without exception" all Okanagan courses have measured above average water equivalents, with this year's Feb. 1 snowpack comparable at higher, but greater at lower elevations to a year ago which resulted in above average spring and summer volume runoff.

The report adds the snowpack potential this year is "much greater" than in 1970, described as a light snowpack and light runoff year.

Okanagan Lake is described as currently 1.23 above the minimum operating level and will be lowered accordingly to accommodate the expected inflow if future snow surveys continue to record an above average mountain snowpack.

The report adds as of Feb. 1, 56 per cent of storage is in a grouping of 26 headwater tributary reservoirs.

The Similkameen River watershed also has a "much heavier" than usual Feb. 1 snowpack, with most snow courses recording a maximum Feb. 1 water equivalent with some of the highest in a 12-year measurement comparison.

This year's snowpack, the report adds, is "greater" than the 1971 above average snowpack, and "much greater" than the 1970 snowpack.

The precipitation gauge catch in the Okanagan and Similkameen valleys was below normal in November and above

Some concern has been expressed about Kelowna's usually meek Mill Creek, which almost overflows each spring during a normal runoff year and could turn into a rampaging serpent depending on evaporation and melting period factors.

Break-Ins Reported

Kelowna RCMP are still investigating a pair of break-ins which occurred locally Friday night.

An unknown amount of change was taken from vending machines inside the Tastee Freez drive-in on south Pandosy Street after someone entered the premises by forcing a rear door.

In the other incident, someone made off with a quantity of tools after smashing a window at the Bluebird Chevron Station on Lakeshore Road.

FILING TIPS

You And Your Taxes

Having problems with those irritating income tax forms? The Courier will attempt to answer some of your most asked questions through the Penticton branch of the National Revenue through this series of articles.

Question—I am now receiving the old age security pension. Must I include this pension money as part of my income on my income tax return?

Answer—Both the old age security pension and the guaranteed income supplement must be reported as income on your income tax return. The guaranteed income supplement, however, may be deducted in computing your taxable income in 1971.

Question—I am divorced and receive alimony payments from my former husband. Do I have to report these payments as income on my tax return, and if so, where on the return do I enter the amount?

Answer—Yes, these payments must be reported as income. Enter the total received in the year on the line for "other income" on your return.

Question—I have rented my farm out on a crop-share basis for the last five years. Would I still be able to average my income for tax purposes?

Answer—Yes, if this rental income is your chief source of income.

Question—When filing tax returns, are commercial reserves and elevator deductions to be reported as income for the year they were paid out to a farmer?

Answer—Normally these will have been reported in the year when credited to his account, and would therefore not be included in his income when actually received.

Question—I filed my income tax return two weeks ago but yesterday I received another T4 slip I had forgotten about. What should I do?

Answer—Notify your District Office in writing and attach a copy of the T4 slip. Above all, do not file another return for this late T4 slip or for any other information slip you have received since filing your return.

Question—My wife took a part-time job last year for the first time since our marriage. She earned more than $3,000. Do I have to include her income with mine or does she have to file a separate return for her income?

Answer—She must file a separate return since she will have a taxable income. Because her income was more than $1,250 you will not be able to claim married exemption on your return.

Question—I bought land in 1965 on a half-crop-share basis and this half share was sold in the vendor's name. Do I have to pay income tax on the half share that was paid to the vendor?

Answer—Yes, The half share that is sold in the vendor's name is your income and the subsequent payment to the vendor is considered to be an installment on the purchase price and is not deductible.

Question—I am a retired farmer living in the city. My farm lands are rented to a tenant. I make six or more trips each year to the farm to supervise seeding, summer fallowing and harvesting. Can I claim the expenses incurred in traveling to and from the farm?

Answer—Travelling expenses incurred while travelling to and from your farm cannot be claimed as a deduction from your rental income. No car, travelling or supervision expenses may be claimed as a deduction from rental income, regardless of the source of the rentals.

SEEN and HEARD

An unidentified man could owe his life to a member of the Okanagan Mission Fire Department. The man was found lying unconscious on Barclay Road Saturday. The fireman was called and, with the use of oxygen, revived the man. A city fire department ambulance took him to Kelowna General Hospital. The fireman declined identification.

Active and interested John Cruse, president of senior citizens' Club 76 in Kelowna, will be home tonight... the first Monday night he has spent there in a long while. Mr. Cruse is a regular and often the lone member of the public gallery at city council meetings. Council under new meeting schedules which provide for public meetings on the first, third, and fifth Mondays, will not be meeting tonight.

Rumors that people on drugs will be accommodated in a centre to be opened next month by Action Self Help were dispelled today by A.S.H. president Mrs. Irena Hodgson. Opening March 12 at 825 Lawrence Ave., the centre will be used mainly for emergency housing. There will be five beds, with a limit of three days and nights.

Ald. Alan Moss, retiring president of the Association of B.C. Professional Foresters, will present the distinguished forester award of the year at the annual convention this week in Vancouver.

The Kelowna Art Exhibit Society now has a print of Allister Bell's "The Secretary Bird," which was presented to the society by Miss Mary Bull. The print is currently on display near the entrance to the Okanagan Regional Library boardroom, and will be part of a nucleus of a permanent collection for the future art gallery.

IN COURT

Dennis Theriault, of Fort McMurray, Alta., was fined $300 and prohibited from driving for two months, after pleading guilty to an impaired driving charge. The accused was involved in a motor vehicle accident Saturday night at the corner of Harvey Avenue and Pandosy Street, which caused an estimated $1,000 damage.

L. W. Wyant, of Westbank, was fined $200 and prohibited from driving for one month, after he pleaded guilty to driving with a blood-alcohol level exceeding .08 per cent.

James Clare Atkinson, of Kelowna, was fined $200 and prohibited from driving for two months after pleading guilty to driving with a blood-alcohol level exceeding .08 per cent.

William Charles Todd, of Kelowna, was fined a total of $500 and prohibited from driving for seven months, after pleading guilty to two separate charges laid the same day. At 1:05 a.m.

Franklin Alfred Breidick, of Kelowna, was fined $300 and prohibited from driving for two months, after pleading guilty to an impaired driving charge.

Lorne Orest Chrapko, of Rutland, was fined $200 and had his licence suspended for one month for driving with a blood-alcohol level exceeding .08 per cent.

John Walter Wall, of Kelowna, was remanded without plea to Feb. 18, charged with driving without insurance and driving while under suspension.

Man Dies In Crash

A two-car crash Saturday night near Hope claimed the life of 76-year-old Henry Bartell, of Pretty Road, in Winfield.

Mr. Bartell died early Sunday morning, while his wife was listed in satisfactory condition in Chilliwack Hospital today. The occupants of the other vehicle involved escaped unhurt.

Funeral arrangements have yet to be announced.

Woman Hurt In Mishap

A Summerland woman was treated in hospital Sunday afternoon for minor injuries received in a single-car accident five miles south of Penticton. Summerland RCMP said Marg Westerlaken was a passenger in a car driven by Wayne Shannon, also from Summerland, which hit a bank at the side of the road and went out of control. Mr. Shannon and his wife, also a passenger in the car, were unhurt. There was no estimate of damage available.

QUIET WEEKEND

The Kelowna Fire Department had a quiet weekend with one chimney fire reported Sunday at 7:35 p.m. in the 1400 block of Richmond Street.

Cartage Business Pioneer Max Jenkins Dead At Age 91

One of the men who pioneered the cartage business in Kelowna and district, Max Jenkins, died Saturday in the city at the age of 91.

Born at Summerside, Prince Edward Island in 1881, where he was raised and educated, Mr. Jenkins was co-founder of Jenkins Cartage Ltd., with partners George Ritchie and Archie Johnson in 1912 following his arrival in the area from Montana and Vernon. The firm's executive was augmented by George Kennedy who joined the company in 1926.

Mr. Jenkins retired from the cartage business that still bears his name in 1926, when he sold his partnership to Mr. Kennedy. In 1949, Slim Adams, who joined the business in 1926, formed a partnership with George Anderson and took over the business.

Pioneer Kelowna and district residents will also remember Mr. Jenkins as the city's fire chief from 1909 to 1917, his tenure of office described in the Kelowna Courier at that time as a "great debt the city and residents have owed to Mr. Jenkins for a number of years."

Mr. Jenkins was also something of a horse rancher and owned the Greta Ranch around the 1907 period. In his early days, he was a keen sportsman and described a surviving daughter, Mrs. L. J. McDonald, as a "great hunter."

His civic sense of responsibility didn't end with the fire department and, in 1930, he joined the public works department. He retired from that department in 1943.

TEA TIME AT THE MOVIES

Movies are for seniors, too, and the city's pioneer citizens took advantage of a National Film Board offering Tuesday in a continuing series which includes an interesting variety of flicker fare. This Tuesday's program will feature "Walking," an artist's conception of the way people walk. Subsequent Tuesdays will feature "Pas de Deux," Norman McLaren's multi-exposed study of two ballet dancers; North, a film on the sights and sounds of the Northwest Territories, and "Waltz," filmed in the Ontario countryside depicting the changing scene in farming. (Courier Photo)

Ma Murray's Outlook On Brotherhood Week

Well-known and outspoken publisher-editor of the Bridge River-Lillooet News comments on Brotherhood Week Feb. 20 to 27. Here is what she has to say:

Until a comparatively short while ago, say 40 years ago or so, there was no one week to be cited as Brotherhood Week, as it seems to me we were all brothers . . . or at least we tried to be, but maybe we didn't succeed all the time. Without brotherhood there was no progress. There were those who helped others on their own and did not need any do-gooders to emphasize the need for brotherhood.

About twenty-five years ago brotherhood has caught up with the tycoons and the arrogant. The lessons of honest Christian and Jewish old law was buried under the affluence of people who embraced and loved it. I always had a great respect for the Jewish people and when a little girl in Kansas City I worked mostly for Jewish people.

It is good to combine the Christians and Jews as we are all children of God, though we grow opulent and uppity in our selves. The more the body politic shuck off their awareness of dependability on a Creator, the less useful or happy, or even constructive for self, they become. The very proof of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews having set aside a week for the recognition of brotherhood proves that there is very little of the original brotherhood left.

The poor get poorer, not in material

Lake Tahoe's Rescue Plan

In their struggle to control sources of pollution in the Okanagan, Valley communities have often been referred to the rescue plan for Lake Tahoe in the United States.

An extensive $2 million study into water quality and quantity is in its third year in the Okanagan with the aim of developing a comprehensive framework for the development and management of water resources for the social betterment and economic growth of the Valley basin.

At Lake Tahoe, after years of painstaking work, California and Nevada authorities have adopted an environmental plan, as a follow-up to the strategy to keep that lake pollution-free, which they hope will keep the water as pure as the snow on its shores.

There could be some interesting parallels in the two studies and what has been done in the U.S. may provide food for thought in the Okanagan.

Approval of the plan by the bi-state Tahoe Regional Planning Agency capped a two-year effort which included a computerized analysis of every foot of the 500-square-mile basin.

The largest alpine lake in the world in terms of dimensions, depth and volume of water, Lake Tahoe averages 980 feet in depth. There are dropoffs so sharp that a boat may be in 25 feet of water one instant and 1,400 feet the next.

The crystal clarity of the waters and their great depth combine to give Lake Tahoe its famed royal blue color. Mark Twain called the lake "the rarest picture the whole earth affords."

As such, the Lake Tahoe basin is visited annually by hundreds of thousands of people. A four-hour drive from San Francisco and a scenic 30 minutes from the Reno airport, the Tahoe area has become one of the most popular resorts in the world.

Studies during the past decade indicated deteriorating water quality and authorities said land erosion caused by development around the lake dirtied the water in some areas and wealth but in every other talent the human mind and heart is capable of using or distributing, and the society of mankind, or brotherhood as it used to be, has deteriorated.

Who is to blame?

History reveals that for many centuries those who were tossed the ball when the world began to expand, have let it down. We think of the churches first and the synagogues who had the written script and no doubt they who were on shift introduced and worked to have strict remembrance of the Creator practiced in the lives of men and women. But as time passed, people became severe, and having lost dependence on their creator, mere man soon found his own standard equipment wearing out or faulting as explosion of the follies of man brought us to a chaotic destruction of ourselves.

If people would remember what they are created for, there wouldn't be so much demand or need for all this extra-curricular stuff in our term of life. The people get exactly what they give. If people come to the age of reason and no one has inculcated them with a conscience; a respect and affection for something but themselves, then there will never be enough brotherhood, or do-gooders in their lives or ours to bring the happiness that brotherhood suggests. Substitutes such as BROTHERHOOD WEEK sicks the conscience of those who have to go and look for it, be it for a week, a month, or aye to the end of time.

To combat the encroachment of 20th century living, conservationists and lake residents have long sought some way of preserving the lake's clarity and maintaining the surrounding forestland.

Planning efforts took a major step two years ago with the creation of the Tahoe Regional Planning Agency. The agency, made up of five Californians and five Nevadans, was charged with succeeding where other efforts had failed.

The plan it adopted last Christmas includes a number of multicolored maps and an accompanying narrative. Still to be approved are four key ordinances covering land use, subdivisions, the lake shoreline and grading which will give the plan the force of law.

Crucial to its effectiveness are "environmental constraints," which agency executive officer and chief architect of the plan, Dick Heikka, says are unique in modern planning.

The constraints, or land capabilities, allow development only in areas where the land can withstand it without environmental damage.

The land capabilities were arrived at through what planners called an "ecological inventory" of the Tahoe basin. Data on topography, geomorphology, geology, climate, soils, vegetation and hydrology was collected and fed into a computer at the University of California.

Aided by the computer-produced information, planners have put land within the basin into one of seven land capability districts, ranging from general forest to commercial. Specific allowable uses are identified for each district, based on the land's sensitivity to development.

For instance, in the general forest category, which applies to more than 80 per cent of the basin, land use is restricted almost entirely to outdoor recreation and few agricultural uses.

When the ordinances are in effect, a developer who wants to build, say, condominiums, will have to prove that construction will not harm the ecology of the specific area.

Local horses that were taken up to the Vernon Ice Races captured two events. J. Cameron's "Surat" won the Gentlemen's road race, and Mr. Cope land's "R.A.C." won the 227 trot or pace event. The ice was in poor condition, so no world records were broken.

IT HAPPENED IN CANADA

New Scientific Giant Tests Effects Of Concorde's Flight

LONDON (CP) — Thanks to a new scientific giant, operators of the revolutionary British-French Concorde plane should know the effects upon it of long-time supersonic flying before the first paying passenger steps aboard.

Two £10-million replicas of the West's first supersonic passenger aircraft have been built—one in England and one in France—to explore safety factors before the Concorde takes to the air commercially in 1974.

The so-called "structured laboratories" also will investigate the impact of the Concorde upon the environment in exhaust fumes and sonic booms, a subject which has aroused deep concern here and in other countries in advance of the plane's debut.

The Concorde mock-up at the British government's Royal Aircraft Establishment, a research station at Farnborough, Hampshire, is a structure 200 feet long and 80 feet high. It is crammed with testing machinery including 6,000 instruments that transmit to computers the effects of rough usage on every part of the plane.

TESTS COMPLEX

The complicated is the testing setup that the Farnborough machine has been in the assembly stage for 18 months and will not get into full operation until 1973, though an official says it is doing "bits and pieces" of testing now.

House Leaders Have Vital Job

By FARMER TISSINGTON

OTTAWA — Many who follow the affairs of the House of Commons are probably unaware of the importance and influence that a group of four men has on its operations.

I am referring to the four house leaders of our political parties. These men have taken on an increasingly active role, but it is a role which is not fully understood.

In recent years the Commons has been finding it increasingly difficult to cope with all the business that is placed before it. Barely does the government manage to get through all its planned legislation within the time limit of a parliamentary session. The opposition parties are accused of deliberately holding up the business for political purposes. They, in turn, accuse the government party of being incapable of properly managing the nation's affairs.

Without the gradual development of the house leader system in the Commons, the situation would be much worse than it is and utter chaos would probably result. The formal and informal meetings of these four men have saved the Commons untold hours of debate and have resulted in agreements on the passage of a great deal of legislation.

The house leader system got its start in England but Canada has expanded and improved on the tradition. Years ago the British prime minister was not always a member of the Commons, but sat in the Lords. This meant he needed someone to speak for him and the government in the Commons.

In Canada, only the government party appointed a house leader at the start and the idea of each of the opposition parties also appointing someone to such a post is a comparatively recent innovation.

Gerald Baldwin, the present Conservative house leader, explains that the idea of such appointments rose because of the need to have a representative from each party who could get together for casual, unofficial and suddenly arranged discussions. These discussions cover such matters as the government's intentions on bringing in legislation, how to expedite the planning and handling of the Commons' work and, sometimes, agreeing on limitation on the length of debates.

"Sometimes we can get together for a two-minute meeting behind the Speaker's chair in the Commons and iron out a problem which otherwise would tie-up the Commons in debate for hours," Mr. Baldwin says. "The present government house leader is Allan MacEachen, also the president of the Privy Council. He tries to

When it is finally operating, the whole flight pattern of Concorde will be simulated—takeoff on the windiest day, breaching the sound barrier, supersonic and sub-sonic flight and landing.

There will be concurrent tests on the new hazard of alternate expansion and contraction as the plane's skin heats above the boiling point of water at high speed and is suddenly cooled on landing.

Two methods are used to test the various potentialities of metal fatigue, an ever-present hazard to fast planes believed to have caused some fatal crashes of British passenger craft in the early days of commercial jet flying.

In one series, 100 hydraulic jacks are fixed to the wings and fuselage and under computer control they push and pull at the metal with more violence than it would receive in flight.

To duplicate the effects of changing temperature, the whole surface of the dummy has been encased in an air-tight metal "glove," creating a space through which alternating hot and cold air can be blown.

The tests are being set up to continue indefinitely, as long as Concorde is in service. Officials of the establishment under Sir Morien Morgan, noted electronics and aeronautical expert, consider them the most exacting ever devised for a plane.

About 1,000 Years Ago A Chinese Flew On Rocket

A visitor to Peking passes mileposts weathered by centuries of struggle in the world's oldest surviving civilization. The events that have paved the way—from ancient dynasties to Mao Tse-tung—are related in this and four articles to appear later on this page.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

A kite clutched in each hand, smoke belching from the black powder rockets lashed to his back, inventor Wan Hu soared aloft in his chair on wheels.

The contraption blew up and so did Wan Hu. But Wan had conducted man's first experiment, with rocket flight.

Wan lived about 1,000 years ago. His saga is one of many from the world's oldest continuing civilization. Under the Chinese sun, there is little that is new.

Centuries before Europeans could even dream of such notions, China had produced gunpowder and rockets, speculated on jet flight, developed the first magnetic compass, a vaccination for smallpox, and perfected the first system of civil service examination.

Her scholars produced their wonders in majestic isolation from the rest of the world. They considered it barbarian. The imposing spectacle of Chinese history seems to be forever repeating itself.

FORTUNES WAX, WANE

Through thousands of years, China was at times the world's mightiest and most populous empire, at others torn apart, confused, convulsed, tortured.

After each major upheaval, after the fall of each great dynasty, China invariably experienced long periods of tumultuous confusion before regaining her balance. Today's Communist epoch, in a China swollen with 800 million population, is no exception.

Furious unrest, outbursts of seething hatred for foreigners, revolts of the young smashing traditions—China has seen them all time and again.

By some estimates, in the 2,000 years up to the founding of the Chinese Republic in 1911, China experienced more than 1,800 famines in one or another of her provinces, almost one a year.

The circumstances of China's history, habits and culture made her people easily regimented. The Chinese, indeed, invented collectivism and socialism centuries before European philosophers dreamed of them.

At the same time, in his daily life, the Chinese always was an individualist, a hard worker, a natural trader who probably had more ability in circumventing laws he disliked than any man on earth.

RULED BY ELDERES

Today China is largely a land of young people ruled by elders who have been in control ever since the Communists took over. Of China's 800 million or so, about half are under the age of 20. They know their country as Chung-hua K'ung-ming Kung-ho-kuo, or the People's Republic of China.

China probably owes its continuity, despite the wars and bloodletting, to its ideographic language. Educated persons from one part of the country could read the language of another part, even though unable to converse. Thus the wide variety of dialects did not erect insurmountable barriers. Mandarin, long the dominant tongue, was an important unifying factor.

Other great empires in ancient times were brought down by internal decay or external nomads. China had similar ailments, but she was locked in by mountains and deserts and culturally isolated by her language.

Successful unto herself, China was loftily unconcerned about the rise and fall of other nations. Her rulers drew their authority from a "mandate of heaven," and China was the middle kingdom, centre of the world, the universal empire. In the view of Chinese scholars, the rest of the world, all barbarian, was unworthy of notice.

The beginning of Chinese civilization may date back as much as 10,000 years. It can be traced with considerable accuracy to the Shang dynasty which lasted from 1766 to 1123 B.C. What scholars consider modern China began with the Hans, who ruled for four centuries until 221 A.D.

For 2,500 years, the mandate of heaven concept was deeply entrenched. So was the idea that bad conduct by a ruler justified rebellion. This meant rebellion at the top of the social ladder. There always was a wide chasm between the masses and the rulers, who came from a relative handful of families.

LEARN FOR PLEASURE

The system reflected a worship of learning for its own sake rather than for the material rewards it could bring. Thus there was lack of competitive urge. The gunpowder China's inventors produced was used not for war but for pleasure—fireworks.

These sentiments were nurtured by Confucianism, a set of moral principles drawn up by the scholar Confucius to guide the conduct of rulers. From it developed something like classic Greek democracy limited to a small layer of aristocrats who would resist total autocratic power for the throne.

China also would, in time, be strongly influenced by the Taoism—Tao means the way of Lao Tze—and by the Buddhism which infiltrated from India. There was no real rivalry between the systems. All were considered links between man and the Lord of Heaven.

The Hans presided over a golden age, setting patterns which would persist off and on for 20 more centuries, a system based on Confucian ideals of human relationships. The Hans produced the world's first welfare state under Emperor Wu Ti. He established state ownership of natural resources, imposed price controls, income taxes, profit limits and public works.

A successor carried these experiments further by the sort of reforms which today would be called socialism. But the system fell apart during a period of civil war and the newly fell, China was torn. Han decline began. When it finally collapsed, chaos enveloped the nation. Warlords dismembered it.

CANADA'S STORY

B.C. Acres Then Cost 10 Shillings

By BOB BOWMAN

Mar Twain wasn't noted for being a financial expert, but he gave speculators some good advice: "Buy land. They're not making any more."

There have been many sensational speculations in real estate in Canada. One of the best opportunities came Feb. 14, 1858, when Governor Douglas of British Columbia set the price of land at 10 shillings an acre. He was then planning to build the capital of the new colony at Fort Langley on the Fraser River, and a number of leading citizens rushed to buy land in the neighborhood.

Exactly one year later it was announced that Queensborough, further down the river, had been chosen instead of Fort Langley, and the speculators seemed to have lost a good deal of money, even at 10 shillings an acre. They were very angry and were given the opportunity later of exchanging their holdings at Fort Langley for land in the Queensborough area.

Then it was decided that the name Queensborough was "prosaic and vulgar" and it was changed to New Westminster. It should have become the capital of present-day British Columbia if it had not been for some skulduggery on the part of supporters of Victoria. This story will be told on the appropriate date.

Before becoming governor of Vancouver Island and British Columbia, James Douglas was a factor of the Hudson's Bay Company. When he set the price of land at 10 shillings an acre he may have been influenced by a remarkable deal the company got from Britain in 1849. It leased Vancouver Island for seven shillings a year, a deal which was kept in effect until 1866 when Vancouver Island and the mainland were united as the colony of British Columbia.

OTHER EVENTS ON FEB. 14: 1761—British captured Michilimackinac Island.

1826—Colonel By arrived at site of Ottawa to build Rideau Canal.

1836—Rev. George Jehonahat Mountain was made first Anglican bishop of Montreal.

1889—Weavers at Cornwall, Ontario, went on strike.

1890—Fire caused $500,000 damage to University of Toronto.

1915—Canadian troops arrived in France.

1901—Calgary bought exhibition grounds from R. B. Bennett for $7,000.

1918—Northern Ontario suffered from severe blizzard.

1920—University of Montreal was incorporated.

1956—General Motors strike ended after 148 days.

British Technicians Testing A 'Clean' 250 MPH Hovertrain

LONDON (CP) — British technicians are experimenting with a hovertrain that will whisk passengers between cities with neither noise nor air pollution at speeds up to 250 miles an hour.

An initial three miles of electrified test track of reinforced, pre-stressed concrete in box-beam form is being constructed near the village of Earith, 16 miles from the university city of Cambridge in eastern England where Tracked Hovercraft Ltd. (THL) has its main workshops and offices.

The concrete monorail at Earith will need to be extended to nearly eight miles for top speed tests up to 250 miles an hour and above.

Many months of practical tests and research with two unmanned research vehicles carrying batteries of instruments lie ahead. All systems and components will be checked fully before the design of the actual hovertrain can be fixed and a prototype built.

This is the climax of four years' work. It was in September, 1967, that research and development in high-speed surface transport was begun by THL, a subsidiary of the National Research Development Corp., a public body set up in 1949 by act of Parliament to promote long-term, high-risk projects from which British industry and exports might benefit.

USES AIR CUSHION
The objective was to produce a high-speed, all-electric vehicle with air-cushion support and guidance running on an inexpensive track which could be elevated through built-up areas—all to the highest possible standards of safety.

The two inventions at the heart of the development are the peripheral-jet air cushion for support and guidance and propulsion by linear electric induction motor based on a travelling magnetic field.

Use of a linear induction motor eliminates noise, air pollution and vibration.

For the development of the air-cushion suspensions engineers evolved a full size dynamic "heave table" which, under hydraulic control, can be made to simulate all relative movements of track to vehicle.

This table, which is saving valuable time in exploring the possibilities of hoverpad and suspension design, is probably the biggest of its kind in the world.

Today the stage of full-size test vehicles and linear motors has been reached. The major test vehicle has been instrumented to explore all the technical problems of the projected hovertrain. It is constructed to provide easy changes of components for experimental purposes.

STUDY EFFECTS

The THL staff at Cambridge are engaged on other studies outside the technological and engineering aspects of this revolutionary new system of transport. The economics of the system are being thoroughly examined and the routing.

Perhaps the most important aspect under study is the effect of a hovertrain system on the environment as a whole, including the control of noise and elimination of pollution, particularly in built-up, populous areas. To be examined also are questions of interference with the landscape and entry into city centres.

Linear motor propulsion will enable hovertrain services to reach terminals in the heart of a city by deep tunnels.

HITHER and YON

The second in the current series of bridge-luncheons sponsored by the ladies' section of the Kelowna Golf and Country Club for members, members' wives and guests is scheduled for Feb. 24 at 1 p.m. Deadline for reservations which should be made through the club, is Feb. 22. Players are reminded that they must bring tables and cards. A limit of 25 tables has been set and draw prizes will add to the fun time, which has proved popular with the women.

Four members of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch No. 26, travelled to Penticton during the weekend to participate in a seminar workshop, where representatives of the 10 auxiliaries in the Valley met. From Kelowna were president, Mrs. Gordon Allard; 1st vice-president, Mrs. John A. Smith; Mrs. Shirley McBride and secretary, Mrs. Phyllis Jefferies.

One the highlights of a three-week holiday at Maui for Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Hobson of Hobson Road was sailing on the blue Pacific on a chartered sailboat. They also enjoyed the beautiful weather, lovely beaches and water and many, many tours.

Another couple back from a three-week holiday in Hawaii are Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Leathley of Barnaby Road, who enjoyed every moment of their first visit to the Pacific state.

SPCA Elects New Executive

At the annual general meeting of the Kelowna Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals held recently in the Health Centre Annex, John Terndrup presented the retiring president, Joan Hamblin, with a suitable gift, on behalf of the membership, in tribute to her outstanding service to the SPCA. During her three year leadership the most up-to-date shelter in the province has been built and is now in operation on Barnaby Road. In her report to the meeting Joan Hamblin thanked all the members who had contributed time, labor and financial assistance to the project.

Percival Goldsmith, chairman of the nominating committee, proposed the following members for the new executive committee:

President, Ken R. Nicholls; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Harro Rader; 2nd vice-president, John Miller; treasurer, John Terndrup; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Margaret Carter; and Mrs. Eleanor Wood; recording secretary, Mrs. Michael Reid; delegate to BCSPCA is John Harker and adoption officer is Percy Goldsmith.

Membership conveners are Joan Hamblin and Mrs. Archie Stubb and telephone convener is Mrs. M. Dubbin.

Ways and means conveners are Mrs. R. J. Fokkett and Mrs. Tom McClelland.

Directors are Dr. A. S. Clarke, R. E. Bealstro, Joan Hamblin, John Harker, H. D. White, Rev. Don Kidd, Marcia Aitkens, Albert E. Tonsi, Mrs. Denise Urquhart, Robert McKee.

All were elected by acclamation.

Mrs. Farquharson is from Farnham in Essex, and is still president of her local institute, which has 30 members.

"It keeps my feet on the ground."

FORMER BUSINESSWOMAN
A widow with no children, she has been a businesswoman and a partner in the House of John Murray, a publishing firm.

"When my husband went into the navy during the war, I took his job in production. After the war, I formed a subsidiary which has faded since."

She says when she and her husband moved to their 300-year-old cottage in Farnham, a friend persuaded her to join the institute in 1938.

She says ACWW groups are also working on pollution and environmental problems.

Mrs. Farquharson says a major concern of the ACWW is as a spokesman for country women.

"We are the only international organization that does speak up and work with rural women," she says.

"For instance, in one of the African countries, where the UN was planning an agricultural college to teach men improved farming methods, we said, 'Well, what are you going to do for women?'"

"They said that would come later, and we said it couldn't."

Dental Assistants Name Delegate

Fifteen members of the Kelowna Dental Assistants Association held their monthly meeting on Wednesday in the loft of The Baron.

Following an enjoyable dinner, Mrs. Jack Botham presided during the business meeting. A letter was read from the Extended Care Unit of the Kelowna General Hospital extended an expression of thanks for the gift of two sets of electrical toothbrushes along with extra brushes for the use of patients.

Mrs. Fran McKinnon will attend the next House of Delegates meeting in Vancouver on March 12. The next monthly meeting will be on March 8.

Perfume—An Aura Of Beauty For Others And Ourselves

EDMONTON (CP) — A woman should go shopping for her perfume either alone or with a man, says beauty consultant Kathleen Whilton.

"Never go shopping for perfume with another woman. She'd just as soon have you smell like a cooked cabbage."

Miss Whilton, who operates a cosmetic and perfume shop called the Third Face, thinks women ought to pay more attention to perfumes and wear them more often.

"We should wear perfume to create an aura of beauty around us, not only for others but for ourselves as well. Others appreciate perfumes, if they are worn carefully. And they make us feel beautiful within ourselves."

An ardent astrology-buff with a deep interest in spiritualism, the tall, willowy brunette believes the stars can help you in choosing a perfume.

"Astrology can be a help in finding your scent. It helps make us aware of ourselves through symbols, makes us look at the essential essence of ourselves, and that's what perfumes reveal."

FOUR MAIN TYPES

She groups perfumes in four major types: neutral, stimulating, erotic and tranquilizing. These four correspond with the four elements of astrology: air (Aquarius, Gemini, Libra), earth (Taurus, Virgo, Capricorn), fire (Aries, Leo, Sagittarius) and water (Pisces, Cancer, Scorpio).

A woman born under one of the water signs should look for her perfume under those that are in the tranquilizing group—those with pure, single-flower scents with gardenia or rose bases or sometimes with a sandalwood base, she said. These might include perfumes such as Diorissimo, Chamade, Capricci or Imprevu.

Neutral scents are those with lime or mint bases. Stimulating perfumes have spice bases and the erotic scents, which please those born under the fire signs, have musk, amber or jasmine bases.

She is a Virgo—"we're very fastidious and aware of scents"—and she prepares some of the Chanel perfumes, such as No. 5. This she calls "an intellectual perfume."

She says she doesn't believe that a woman has to stick to one scent. "But a perfume wardrobe should be selected from among the same types of bases."

"Perfumes linger in the clothes, but they can complement each other."

USE INTUITION

A woman also can wear a perfume that complements the outfit she has chosen, the scent reinforces the mood she is trying to create.

"On days when I need to be aggressive, I wear red—and Agnès goes well with that."

Other perfumes, especially those suited to the fire signs, such as Miss Dior, Quelques Fleurs or Je Reviens, are "cool."

"They make me think of white-greens, of lily-of-the-valley, for instance."

When a woman is shopping for a perfume, she should rely on her subconscious, her intuition, and buy what she likes. Too many women were influenced by packaging, ads and the sales pitch.

A woman should never shop for a perfume while she is ill or angry, said Miss Whilton.

"The body takes on a different chemical reaction and it will affect the smell."

Perfumes should be chosen to present an image of the woman at her best.

"When the person is gone, the perfume will linger."

Wls Serve As Exchanges For Information

TORONTO (CP) — In some countries, Women's Institutes are still teaching basic nutrition to farm women. In others they are showing townspeople where their milk comes from.

Olive Farquharson, president of their international organization, the Associated Country Women of the World, is in Canada to help celebrate the 75th anniversary of the founding of WI in Stoney Creek, Ont. It now has seven million members in 285 affiliated organizations around the world.

Mrs. Farquharson says: "The most important part of what we're doing varies with the country. In very rural areas, in Ghana, for instance, they are busy setting up institutes to do what it was founded to do 75 years ago."

"In England we have a town and country project. Institutes are trying to develop an exchange with people in new towns, in housing developments, even factories to come out and meet the people in the villages and see that milk comes out of a cow, not a bottle."

"We try to give them an understanding of the country. Town people don't know anything about what goes on in the country."

Mrs. Farquharson is from Farnham in Essex, and is still president of her local institute, which has 30 members.

"It keeps my feet on the ground."

FORMER BUSINESSWOMAN

Love And Marriage Have Come A Long Way

By MARY GREER

With Women's Lib so prominently featured in magazines these days (even Playboy interviewed Germaine Greer) some people are afraid that the man-woman love relationship will disappear. There are even a few kooks who think they would like to stamp out love and marriage. Those women who think that equality means: to look down the ladder instead of up, are as off the track as the men who think it means the opposite. Anyway you try to define equality it comes out: even, draw, parallel, equate, balance, evenness, parity.

Responsibility of two people united in love and marriage is even, though they may be different. He may earn the money but she must budget it.

If they draw their load together they can achieve teamwork and again while they may have differences of opinion, they should balance.

If they both work outside of the home at their own careers or occupations, their lives can still run parallel and although they may be opposites in nature, they can still equate.

What's all this leading up to? Valentine Day, my friend. According to a wire release which came to this desk, Valentines of one sort or another have a far longer history than any other cards.

Appropriately enough, Henry VIII, he of the six wives, was the man who instituted the Feb. 14 holiday by royal charter in 1537.

St. Valentine himself is thought to have been a Christian martyr executed for his faith on Feb. 14 in the year 270. One story is that he restored the sight of his jailer's blind daughter and on the night before his execution wrote her a farewell not signing it, From Your Valentine.

But the modern association of Feb. 14 with rituals of love probably originates in the Roman Lupercalia, a fertility festival held in mid-February.

Do Kelowna residents still keep the Valentine traditions? Are they sentimental as ever? Apparently they are and love still flourishes in spite of urban problems, pollution, income tax papers and all the trials and tribulations of a modern community.

A quick phone call to several card shops and a local drug store reveals that although men shop at the last minute for cards, they take time to find an appropriate one, according to one salesclerk.

Another reported that teen-aged youths will take hours to find just the right card for that "special" person and that the young married man or bachelor wife has switched from the fancy heart-shaped boxes of chocolates to other gifts, such as perfume or luxury items such as bath oils and so on.

The older men, she said, still like the big heart-shaped boxes of sweets.

A florist says roses are still a favorite, but many men like a Valentine arrangement of lacy hearts and flowers type. Many men buy flowers for mothers, grandmothers as well as wives and sweethearts. Valentine weekend is a busy time for them.

Children, another reported, are the big buyers, especially the 11 to 12 year group who send them to just everybody they know, teachers, pals, classmates, parents, grandparents and even favorite aunts.

Another big purchaser are grandparents, who send off love messages to all their dear ones.

So there is hope for this old world, as long as we can still take time to think about love.

I'm as sentimental as the rest of you and among my collections of clippings and quotes, I have a few favorites.

When a man is in love for the first time, he thinks he invented it—Robert Edwards, Calgary Eyeopener.

One-sided love lasts best—Stephen B. Leacock.

We are shaped and fashioned by what we love—Goethe.

Love and a cough cannot be hid—Herbert.

Love never reasons but profusely gives: gives like a thoughtless prodigal, its all and trembles then lest it has done too little—Hannah Moore.

The plainest man that can convince a woman that he is really in love with her, has done more to make her in love with him than the handsomest man, if he can produce such conviction. For the love of woman is a shoot, not a seed and flourishes most vigorously only when ingrafted on that love which is rooted in the breast of another—Colton.

PRINCE GEORGE skip Kevin 'Duke' Smale and his four-some won the B.C. Curling Association Consols play-downs Saturday night with an 8-6 extra end thriller victory over Ed Gee of Nelson. Smale will now advance to provin-

MEETS COASTAL REPRESENTATIVE

Duke Smale Again Champion

The winner of the 1972 B.C. Curling Association Consol playdowns is no stranger to the interior, the coast or to curlers across Canada.

Kevin 'Duke' Smale put his brand on the Consol crown for the third time in the last four years, beating Ed Gee of Nelson 8-6 in an extra end Saturday at the Kelowna Curling Club. He will represent the interior in provincial playdowns in West Vancouver at the Hollyburn Curling Club, against an as yet undecided coastal champion.

Smale had his troubles throughout the playdowns, first being beaten in the BCCA Consol A event final by Kelowna's Doug Hannan foursome then dropping his first game in the Consol playdowns.

Seventeen rinks qualified for the Consols, seven of them zone champions and 10 decided by the Consol. Hannan, who won the A event final in the Consol, dropped his first game and Smale followed the next day by losing out in the A event by a 10-9 score to Jim Flaten of Prince Rupert 10-9.

The Prince George skip, working with a new front end, got back on the winning trail and stayed there throughout the remainder of the three-day Consol playdowns.

Smale slipped past Hannan on their second encounter, side-lining the Kelowna skip from further action.

Duke avenged his other loss Saturday afternoon when he polished off Flaten 8-4 in the B final to reach the Consol final.

Gee was hard-pressed to get past Herb Van Grootel of Prince George, taking a 7-6 decision.

Smale didn't have an easy time against Gee, either, as the Nelson zone representative took him to an extra end with his newly-formed rink before bowing out.

Gee led in the early rounds, swapping singles in the first two ends and moving out in front 3-1 after the third end.

Gee had to get to a partially-guarded Smale stone and stay to count a deuce.

Smale drew to the eight foot, after some strong sweeping in the fourth end, Smale proved to be the second shot as well, as a measurement showed him to be an inch closer to the button than the lone Gee rock in the house.

A double takeout attempt by the Nelson skip in the fifth end failed, as the first Smale rock hit the second and stuck while Gee rolled away, and the Prince George champion moved into a 4-3 lead.

A straight takeout by Gee in the sixth knotted the score, and Smale kept it that way as he blanked the seventh and eighth ends. Gee left a lone Smale rock in the house in the ninth end, with Smale drawing in with his last rock to count a pair.

Gee got a chance to tie the game in the 11th end as Smale rolled out after a takeout shot and left Gee counting. Gee drew to the house to knot the score at 6-6.

Smale's front end, with lead Jack Hockey and second Tom Munro took out anything Gee put up to use as guards. Smale's third Pat Carr followed and the final shot of the game had Smale looking at an unguarded rock.

Smale caught a piece of the Gee rock and rolled out himself to blank the end and force another end.

Smale got into trouble early in the extra end as Hockey stuck on a takeout shot. Gee put a stone behind the guard, but second Munro hit and stuck when taking out the guard.

Carr cleared the house with his second shot, taking the guard and rolling out himself. Gee failed in an attempt to hide behind a Smale stone with his last rock, and left a large part of the stone showing.

Smale made no mistake with his final shot of the 1972 Consols, taking out Gee's only hope and sticking to count a deuce. Smale had an easier time against Flaten in the semi-final round, grabbing a four-end in the second after blanking the first end. Flaten had a chance to grab a pair in the third, but didn't get the roll he wanted and left Smale to steal a single for a commanding 5-0 lead.

Flaten, with a chance to get back in the game in the sixth end, was heavy and sailed through the house to give Smale a stolen pair and control of the game. The Prince Rupert skip threw in the towel after the 10th end.

Gee broke open his game against Van Grootel in the 10th end, stealing two when Van Grootel's last rock picked up something on the ice and swung over to raise Gee in for second shot.

Van Grootel was counting two in the final end, but Gee took out one of them to leave Van Grootel with a single steal and short of the tying point.

The winner of the provincial title, decided by a best-of-11 playoff, will represent B.C. in the Canadian Brier playdowns in St. John's, Newfoundland in March.

Revenge Is Sweet: Bucks Essos Now Are Wondering

In Kelowna Buckaroos' estimation, turnabout is fair play. And there isn't another team in the league that Bucks would rather get back at than Vernon Essos.

The high-flying Essos, runaway league leaders in the B.C. Junior Hockey League, were ridden 8-2 by Buckaroos Sunday before a crowd of more than 1,300 at the Memorial Arena.

Bucks, who shellacked Essos Tuesday in Kelowna by a 10-3 score, are clamoring for an escape from last place in the six team league and a playoff berth. They have won three of their last four games, tying the other, in their attempt to grab a shot at the playoffs.

Bucks go against Kamloops Rockets in Kamloops Wednesday and have a return engagement with Rockets in the Memorial Arena Friday at 8:30 p.m. Chilliwack Bruins visit the Arena Saturday at 8:30 p.m. Rockets hold the playoff spot that Bucks are after, with Bruins only a few points in front of them in standings.

Tad Campbell led the Buck sharpshooters with two goals, while Archie McKinnon, Murray Hanson, Bruce Gerlach, Ken Selinger and Dale Turner scored singles.

Glen Walton and Jim Lawrence scored for Essos.

Bucks didn't come out of the game unscathed, with a serious injury to forward Ken Weninger that might sideline him the rest of the season. Weninger was taken in along the boards by Essos' Les Salo midway through the third period, and left the ice with a shoulder injury.

It was reported later that Weninger had suffered a separated shoulder. Bucks' Brad Robson suffered a cut to the eye early in the third period, apparently caused by a line-man breaking up the altercation. He was taken to the hospital for repairs.

Essos started the game as if they were going to make up for the earlier drubbing they had suffered, and twice led in the first period. Bucks came out of the opening frame with a 2-2 lead and jumped into a 5-2 lead by the end of the second stanza.

Walton opened the scoring with 1:27 gone in the first period as he goaled the puck into the corner of the net, but his lead didn't stand up long as Selinger coolly picked a corner with a wrist shot three minutes later.

The next Esso lead didn't even stand up that long, as the puck bounced off Lawrence's leg into the Buck net at 9:45 and Campbell evened the score 4-2 seconds later.

McKinnon scored the winning goal late in the period as he dug the puck from under an Esso defenceman and flipped it into the net past a surprised Earl Bowie in the Vernon net.

McKinnon teamed with linemate Murray Hanson for the first goal in the second period, a classy passing play that saw Hanson tip the puck past Bowie.

Gerlach scored as he streaked down the left side and flipped the puck behind Bowie, to give Bucks a commanding lead. The third period was much the same, only worse for the visiting Essos.

A fight between Essos' Wayne Dye and a Kelowna fan marred the third period, with the fan starting the battle. The fan got in the first punch at Dye, seated on the Esso bench, and Dye retaliated with his stick. The bout was quickly broken up and the fan ejected.

The fight seemed to take whatever spirit Essos had left, and Bucks dominated the play although being outshot 9-7.

Fox made the score 6-2 by flipping in a pass from Selinger and Turner and Campbell put the finishing touches on the rout with goals in the second half of the period.

Bucks' goalie Ron Bourcier was unbeatable after the first two Esso goals, and received a lot of help from his defence and with the forwards' backchecking. He had to make 22 saves in the game, while Bowie was called upon for 31 saves.

Bucks' power play showed up well, but they could only capitalize on one of the Essos' eight minor penalties. Bucks took two minor infractions and two of four majors for fighting.

"I guess all those years of baseball, football, tennis and golf weakened my ankles!"

KSS Owls Sting Oliver Hornets

Kelowna Owls romped to their sixth win of the season against three losses in senior boys AA basketball league action as they stung Oliver Hornets 83-49 Saturday night in Kelowna.

Owls were never in trouble, as they controlled the ball and Brian Vetter and Brad Chapman controlled the backboards. Vetter grabbed 18 rebounds with Chapman close behind with 15 to give Owls control of the game.

Vetter also led the scoring parade, with 23 points. Don Gray chipped in 13 points while Lloyd Leyden and Don Gordon netted 11 each. Gary Lang had eight points with seven more from Chapman.

Scott Ronald led Hornets with 12 points, while Barry Radies hooped nine points.

Owls jumped into a 18-12 first quarter lead and virtually wrapped up their sixth win by taking a 42-28 bulge after the second frame. Owls outscored Hornets by 12 points in the third stanza to grab a 67-41 lead and coasted the rest of the way.

Owls have two key games in their bid to grab top spot in the league, when they go against highly-rated Rutland Voodoos in Rutland Friday night, then travel to Penticton for a game against the Lakers Saturday night.

Fowler Foursome Grabs Zone Crown

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP) — The Bill Fowler rink of Quesnel captured the Northern Interior British Columbia mixed curling crown Sunday.

Fowler downed Wilt Peckham's Prince George foursome 7-4 in the final game and will represent the northern zone in the B.C. Curling Association mixed championships in Trail later this month.

Doug Harding In Provincials Wins Boys Singles Competition

Doug Harding of Kelowna found the balls rolling true and earned himself a ticket to Vancouver for provincial playdowns as he won the boys' singles event in Youth Bowling Council senior zone bowling championships at the Meridian Lanes Sunday.

Harding grabbed a berth in the provincials, but the remainder of the Kelowna corps didn't fare as well. Darlene Matheson of Osoyoos took a close win in girls' singles, while Salmon Arm grabbed both teams' titles.

Harding wasted little time in taking a large lead over the rest of the competitors, rolling a 282 in his first game for a 41 pin lead over the nearest challenger, Larry Carlson of Kamloops. Wayne Sharp of Safeco Kamloops rolled the second highest in the second game with a 251, but Harding was only nine pins behind while Carlson fell off the pace with a 211 score.

Harding slipped in the third game, to a 187 score, but the margin he had built up in the first two rounds gave him a total pinfall of 711. Carlson was second with 681 while Sharp came in third at 669.

The other competitors in boys' singles were Ken Dang of Prince George, 216, 268, 177; Blair Spragg of Salmon Arm, 186, 219, 256-661; Marco Endrizzi of Revelstoke, 153, 251, 205-609; Roy Pek of Osoyoos, 125, 125, 210-460.

Matheson and Prince George's Linda Wallace fought a tough battle for senior girls' honors, with Matheson coming out ahead by a single pin.

Matheson fell 13 pins behind Wallace after the first game, 182-195 and the two top bowlers kept pace with each other with identical 238 scores in the second game. Matheson rolled her best game in the third, a 267, while Wallace was only 14 pins behind but too far for a win, with a 686 pinfall to Matheson's 287.

Kelowna's Diane Senger had her troubles after opening with a 208, second best after the first game. She slipped to 193 after the second and finished with a 160 to place sixth in the eight-girl field with 861.

Other competitors in the event were, Barb Fuoco of Revelstoke, 265, 199, 215-679; Roxanne Mark of Safeco Kamloops, 168, 229, 180-577; Sandra Warr of Sumnerland, 172, 154, 238-564; Linda Unsworth of Kamloops, 138, 172, 165-475; Gillian Spragg of Salmon Arm, 136, 147, 191-474.

Salmon Arm' senior boys handily won their division, with 3,473 total pinfall over the three games, while Revelstoke placed second with 3,014. Salmon Arm grabbed a healthy lead after the first game with a 1,155 and followed with the best game of the three in the second, 1,217. The final game was 1,101.

Revelstoke had a triple of 1,019, 1,022 and 973 as they finished 34 pins ahead of the Kelowna squad at 2,980 (960, 1,052, 968). Prince George, 2912; Sumnerland, 2,748; Safeco Kamloops, 2,690; Kamloops, 2,652 were also in the event.

Members of the Salmon Arm squad are Dave Lind, Robyn Andruski, Barry Morrison, Steve Lewis and Bob Tupniak.

A poor third game finished Prince George girls from the provincial championship, after they had led all the way. Prince George rolled a 1,048 score in the first game to lead Salmon Arm (981) and Revelstoke (1,003).

Prince George had their margin cut by Revelstoke in the second game, rolling a 966 to their 974. Salmon Arm stayed within striking distance with 937.

Salmon Arm came on strong in the third game with a 1,088 while Prince George had a 958 and Revelstoke 870 to win the rollofs. Salmon Arm finished with 3,006, with Prince George second at 2,972 and Revelstoke at 1,857.

Kelowna at 2,823 was fourth. Safeco Kamloops fifth at 2,785 and Sumnerland sixth at 2,663.

Members of the Salmon Arm team are Sue Ranceer, Diane Layden, Rosy Snack, Shelley Marshall and Betty Lou Kranz.

Packers Win Semi-Final Series Injuries Hit Victorious Squad

Kelowna Packers will advance to the Okanagan Mainline Juvenile Hockey League final against either Kamloops or Penticton after they defeated Vernon 5-2 in two-game total goal semi-finals during the weekend.

Packers scored three third period goals Saturday night in Kelowna for a 4-1 win and tied Vernon 1-1 Sunday to win the series.

Four players were injured in the two-game set, and three of them might be sidelined for the rest of the season. Dave Hanson suffered a broken wrist Saturday.

Sunday Bill Carignan suffered a shoulder injury, but he is believed to be a shoulder separation. Roy Bigler has a possible shoulder separation and Lawrence Burke suffered a bad cut at the corner of his eye.

Carignan and Perry Head led Kelowna Saturday with two goals each, with Will Granly replying for Vernon.

Vernon took a 1-0 lead after the first period before Head tied the score in the second. Packers broke open the game in the third period with their scoring spree.

Les Strachan notched Kelowna's goal in the first period Sunday, with Vernon coming back with one in the second by Cy Davidson.

Swim Records Felled By Girls

PORT ALBERNI, B.C. (CP) — Two Vancouver girls set Canadian native records Sunday as the Canadian Dolphin Swim Club of Vancouver swept to an easy victory in an invitational meet at this Vancouver Island city.

Mary-Beth Rondeau actually broke the 500-yard women's Freestyle record twice, covering the distance in 5:15.3 and later in 5:15.2. Former record-holder was Angela Coughlan of Toronto, who established a mark of 5:17.3 in 1970.

Donna-Marie Gurr broke her own 1969 record in the 200-yard backstroke with a time of 2:12.7. Her previous record was 2:14.0. Two Canadian age-class records also fell.

Debbie Bengtson lowered the 13-14 girls' 400-yard individual medley mark to 4:50.1, only to have it fall to teammate Jennifer McHugh in 4:45.4. Previous record of 5:01.8 was held by Jane Wright of Toronto.

The 400-yard freestyle relay record for girls 13 and 14 was lowered to 3:58.1 by Miss Bengtson, Miss McHugh, Gill Hodge and Lindsay Torrance. The old record of 4:02.0 was held by the Killarney Swim Club of Calgary.

Peewee Reps Are Bounced

Kelowna Peewee Reps had their playoff hopes scuttled by a fired-up Vernon squad, losing the two-game total goal series 11-6 during the weekend.

Kelowna couldn't get untracked in the first game in Vernon, and dropped an 8-3 decision. Vernon led 3-2 after the first period and never looked back, opening up a 6-3 margin after the second.

Tim Turner scored two of the three Kelowna goals with the other going to Glen Garvin.

Greg Claggett scored once and assisted on two goals by Terry Schreder as Kelowna tried to overcome the margin Sunday. Vernon led 1-0 after the first period and came out ahead 2-1 after the second.

Kelowna took a 3-2 lead but Vernon tied the score and won the series. Kelowna outshot Vernon 33-19 in the second period but couldn't get past an outstanding Wayne Silzak. Tim Cote and Tom Toski shared the goaltending duties for Kelowna.

Voodoos Win Boys AA Pair

Rutland Voodoos had little trouble against two Kamloops opponents in senior boys' AA basketball league action, as they polished off North Kamloops Saints 91-82 and followed with a 77-57 victory over Kamloops Red Devils.

Voodoos, led by a 23-point performance by Darryl Weninger, took a 21-10 first quarter lead and opened a 47-25 half-time margin. They kept up the pace in the third quarter, scoring 18 points to Saints' 10 and taking a 63-35 lead.

Ken Angus followed Weninger's lead with 17 points while another 15 came from Randy Turner.

Red Devils proved only a little better opponent, as Voodoos had their own way with them as well. Voodoos jumped into a strong 14-5 first quarter lead and never looked back. Voodoos moved ahead 35-18 after the second quarter and 57-29 after the third stanza. Red Devils came back strong in the final eight minutes but the outcome of the game was already decided. Devils outscored Voodoos 28-20 in the final stanza.

Angus took his turn as top Voodoo scorer, leading the way with 21 points. Weninger chipped in 16 points while Ken Bartel netted 11 points.

T. Dalin scored 14 points for Red Devils, with 11 from H. Blumachert.

Rutland came up with an amazing 31-point fourth quarter scoring spree to defeat Kamloops 67-49 in senior boys' A action.

Race For Rookie Laurels Between Ken Dryden, Martin

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Fans often object to tie games in the National Hockey League, but one of the best action came in deadlocked games during the weekend.

One of the highlights was Rick Martin's 38th goal, scored in a 4-4 deadlock between Buffalo Sabres and Philadelphia Flyers Sunday. The goal tied the season record for a rookie, set last season by Buffalo team-mate Gil Perreault.

Some of the best action was seen Sunday at Boston where Montreal Canadiens, despite being outshot 41-18 by the Bruins, earned a 2-2 tie with the spectacular goaltending of rookie Ken Dryden.

In another tie game, Mickey Redmond, Detroit's new scoring leader, got his 34th goal of the season in Chicago Saturday to give the Red Wings a 3-3 saw off with the Black Hawks.

In other games Sunday, New York Rangers downed Los Angeles Kings 4-2, Pittsburgh Penguins beat Vancouver Canucks 6-4, and Chicago defeated Toronto Maple Leafs 3-1.

Saturday, Boston whipped Buffalo 5-2, Montreal edged Pittsburgh 3-2, Toronto beat California Golden Seals 3-0, St. Louis Blues edged Vancouver 5-4 and Minnesota North Stars defeated Philadelphia 5-1.

LEAD ROOKIE RACE
Martin and Dryden, the top contenders for the Calder Trophy as the season's outstanding rookies, each gave the trophy selectors food for thought Sunday.

Martin put himself on the brink of becoming the highest-scoring rookie ever with the goal at 2:44 of the first period which tied the game at that point.

Martin also is just 10 points behind Perreault's record last season of most points by a rookie—72. Martin has 24 assists to go with his 38 goals for 62 points. The rookie record for assists in a season is 52 set last season by Jude Drouin of Minnesota.

The Buffalo game saw a continuation of Philadelphia's goaltending problems which started last week when Bruce Gamble was sidelined by a heart attack. Flyers netminder Doug Favell was thrown out of the game with a misconduct sentence in the final minute of the second period after he argued with referee John Ashley about a Buffalo goal. His replacement, Don McLeod, suffered a knee sprain during the third period when he was knocked down by a team-mate and finished the game in obvious pain.

DRYDEN STARS
At Boston, Dryden was spectacular in stopping the Bruins with numerous saves on shots from close range. He was at his best in the last minute of play when he faced the high-scoring line of Phil Esposito, Wayne Cashman and Mike Walton.

Esposito's frustration was obvious in the last minute of the second period as well when Dryden smothered his flip shot at the goal mouth and Esposito went to the backboard and leaned his head against the glass as the siren sounded to end the period.

At New York, Rod Gilbert scored on the first shot of the game and the Rangers went on to hand the Kings their fourth straight loss.

The victory moved New York to within eight points of the leading Bruins in the East Division while Montreal, undefeated in their last eight games, stayed within six points of the Rangers.

At Pittsburgh, Penguins defenseman Duane Rupp and winger Jean Pronovost scored two goals each to hand the Canucks their 34th loss in 54 season games.

Vancouver's Poul Popiel earned a game misconduct penalty for shoving both linesmen during a third-period fight.

At Chicago, rookie Rick Kehoe opened the scoring for Toronto with his seventh goal of the season in the first period but the Hawks tied it up in the second and third-period goals by Cliff Koroll and Chico Maki gave Chicago the victory. Toronto's loss left them tied with Detroit for fourth in the East while the Hawks widened their lead over Minnesota in the West to 11 points.

Dryden wasn't nearly as sharp in Montreal Saturday when the Kings tested him with 33 shots as compared to Montreal's 48 shots at Los Angeles goalie Billy Smith.

Rookie Guy Lafleur's 22nd goal of the season with 22 seconds remaining in the game gave Montreal the victory.

At Detroit, Red Wing Nick Libbitt got two goals, both on long shots from the left wing and both while the Wings were short-handed. Chicago went ahead 3-2 late in the second period but Redmond's goal late in the third against goalie Tony Esposito tied it up.

CANADA'S ONLY bright light in the 11th Olympic Winter Games was Karen Magnusson's performance in figure skating. Karen, of Vancouver, was the only Canadian to win a medal after placing second. Canada finished far down the list in point standings, with only the one medal.

Oddities In The Olympics Hunter's Demise Ranks High

SAPPORO, Japan (CP) — Skier Malcolm Hunter was racing in the cross-country when one of his borrowed ski poles broke.

"Pole! Pole!" he screamed, and a team-mate brought a replacement quickly. It was a much shorter girl's pole.

By then the Ottawa student developed "a bad psychological problem," his coach said. Hunter came in 49th in the 30-kilometre race.

Hunter's demise ranks high in the oddities that blossomed at the Winter Olympic Games. Take the case of Avery Brundage's tealess tea party.

FORGOT THE TEA
The president of the International Olympic Committee threw one for Olympic medal winners. Somebody forgot to bring the tea. And the Americans failed to show. Brundage is a Chicago millionaire.

When Marie Therese Nadig, the Swiss double winner in Alpine skiing, arrived she greeted the octogenarian and they started a conversation through an interpreter.

She is going to the United States to "ski in Banff," she said.

"Oh, that's not the United States—that's Canada, a very beautiful place," said Brundage.

The World Cup matches resume this week in Banff. When Brundage told Siberian railway engineer Viktor Mumatov that his job might dry up soon because "the airlines are taking over," the Russian gold winner in the biathlon relay replied: "not in Siberia."

SKIER SELLS WHISKY
Brundage learned from Yukio Kasaya, who led the Japanese sweep of medals in the 70-metre jumping, that his business is selling whisky.

Kasaya agreed that whisky and training don't mix but quickly pointed out that one of his fellow medalists is a banker and the other makes butter milk.

The same day the Japanese government awarded Brundage his highest foreign award—First Class Order of the Rising Sun—normally given only to heads of state.

When Japanese interpreters passed on questions to the pairs champions, Alexei Ulanov and Irina Rodina of Russia, whether they really had a romantic falling out, Ulanov brushed them off and Irina giggled.

A Russian official popped on the scene and insisted the figure skaters must go for their doping test. They went. The romance mystery remains unsolved.

But Dianne Holm's father had to come to her rescue when a North Korean reporter hit the U.S. speed-skating winner of the 1,500 metres with the question: "What does your gold medal mean to soldiers in Vietnam?"

CHOIR INVITED
TORONTO (CP) — The choir—a ritual choir of six male voices and a gallery choir of 24 mixed voices—of St. Mary Magdalene Anglican Church have been invited to sing evensong and a recital at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York April 16. The service will be preceded by a recital given by the Canadian organist Frederick Geoghegan. This is the first time such an invitation has been extended to a Canadian choir.

Hoard Of Gold Packed Off '72 Winter Games History

SAPPORO, Japan (CP) — Olympic champions carried their hoard of gold home today for a brief display before going on the road in their bid for defence of world titles.

The 11th Winter Olympic Games are history now, and the next one will be in Denver, Colo., in 1976. But world championships go on year to year. Between now and mid-April, skiers, skaters and hockey players will be shooting for or defending world crowns.

The elite of the skiing world, fresh from Olympic victories, travel to Banff, Alta., for the next leg of the World Cup competition starting Friday.

All the champion figure skaters and their main challengers will be in Calgary for the world championships March 6-12.

The world speed-skating championships are scheduled in three European centres—the men's distance races at Oslo Feb. 19-20, both men's and women's sprint championships at Eskilstuna, Sweden, Feb. 26-27, and the women's distance races at Heerenveen, the Netherlands, March 4-5.

RUSSIA DEFENDS TITLE
Finally, Russia will defend its world hockey title at Prague in early April. The United States, silver winner in the Olympics, won't be competing and neither will Canada. The Americans were relegated to the B Group in last year's tournament. The Canadians refuse to play in world and Olympic tournaments—unless they can use their best players, meaning professionals.

The 1972 Games ended with Russia at the top in medals, and in the unofficial team standing. Russia won its third straight Olympic hockey gold medal Sunday, defeating Czechoslovakia 5-2 in the last game of the tournament. Finland upset Sweden 4-3, paving the way for the U.S. to win the silver.

The bronze went to Czechoslovakia. Sweden wound up fourth. In Prague, the Russians will be defending for the 10th straight time.

"It's crazy," said Hal Trumble, manager of the Olympic squad which won the first hockey gold for the U.S. since the 1960 Games.

JUST A TOURNAMENT
"A world championship without Canada or the United States is not a world championship at all. It's just a European tournament."

In addition to Russia, the other countries entered are Czechoslovakia, Sweden, West Germany, Finland and Switzerland.

The Americans play in the B Pool, starting in Bucharest, Romania, March 25. They must win that pool to get back into A Pool of the 1973 world championships.

James Worrall, Canadian member of the International Olympic Committee, said he had done everything he could to bring Canada into the Olympic hockey tournament.

"The ball is in Canada's court," Worrall said. "It is up to the CAHA to make the next move."

"We tried, but we always came up against protocol. We were told the CAHA must go through the international federation to the IOC."

Canada withdrew from international hockey.

national hockey in January 1970, after the other five top teams in the world championships reneged on a commitment to allow Canada to play nine professionals. The reason given at the time was that this would impair the amateur status of her opponents, particularly with an Olympics looming on the horizon.

Since then, Canada has returned on all levels below that of senior-world championships and Olympics.

Worrall commented: "Naturally Canadians, with their hockey traditions, are not content to enter a team that does not truly represent Canada."

"We have several hundred Canadian pro hockey players, and that means any strictly amateur team is a long way from the Canadian top bracket."

Canada won a silver figure-skating medal in the Games which ended 11 days of competition Sunday, the worst showing since 1936.

ONLY 3 IN TOP 5
Canada placed only three athletes in the top five of any event, Karen Magnusson of Vancouver winning the silver in women's figures and Laurie Kreiner of Timmins, Ont., and Judy Crawford of Toronto each placing fourth in skiing.

Canada was 16th in the unofficial 35-country team standing and last on the medals list.

The Games ended with one big surprise—the first medal ever won by Spain in any Winter Olympics. Francisco Fernandez Ochoa, 21, won the men's slalom by a margin of one full second.

In Sunday's only other event, Vyacheslav Vedennin made up a one-minute deficit over the last 10 kilometres as Russia won the 40-kilometre cross-country skiing relay by a 50-second margin over Norway.

That gave Russia a total of eight gold, five silver and three bronze medals and a wide victory margin in the medals race.

The Russians' victory in the relay was their fifth gold medal in cross-country skiing, in contrast to the solid beating they took from the Scandinavians in the Grenoble Olympics in 1968.

In hockey, the Russians had four victories and a tie, and the Americans and the No. 2 ranked Czechs each had 3-2 records. But because the Americans upset the Czechs 5-1 in their head-to-head clash, the Americans took the silver.

Even the fourth-place Swedes had some satisfaction. They had tied the Russians 3-3 and beaten the Americans 5-1 enroute to a 2-2-1 record. What really hurt them was a 2-1 loss to Czechoslovakia.

Bill Harris, Canadian coach of the Swedish team, said it was hard to ask a team to bounce back after a last-minute loss like that one.

Anyways, the gold medal—out of Sweden's reach by Sunday's game—was the only prize worth shooting for, he said.

Harris said he considers Russia and Czechoslovakia the most professional teams in the world in terms of the amount of time spent playing hockey.

SCHEENK IS STAR
Here are some highlights of these controversy-marked games:

Top male performance: Ard Schenk, winner of the 1,500, 5,000 and 10,000 metres speed skating scored the first sweep since Hjalmar Anderson of Norway did it in 1952.

Top female performance: Galina Koulakova, winner of the gold medals in Nordic skiing—five-kilometre, 10-kilometre and relay.

Greatest single thrill: The victory of Japan's Yukio Kasaya leading in the 1-2-3 sweep by Japan in the 70-metre ski jump. It was Japan's first gold in the Winter Games.

Biggest controversy: Karl Schranz's election from the Games for permitting himself to be photographed for commercial purposes. The Austrian emerged as an international hero.

Biggest upset: Marie Therese Nadig of Switzerland over Austria's World Cup champion, Annemarie Proell, in the women's downhill and giant slalom ski races.

Greatest team improvement: East Germany, a country of 17 million, battling the Soviet Union, the giant of 230 million, for medal honors. The East Germans won 14 medals.

THE ONLY THING THAT'S GONE RIGHT THIS WINTER IS MY DATSUN.

Tinted glass reduces glare and there's a heated rear window for better visibility.

No need to bundle up. Datsun's 3-speed heater/defroster will keep you warm as toast all the way to the chairlift.

I don't care if the back seat is roomy and comfortable. Next time we go up the mountain I want to sit up front with Hans.

Excellent road handling in the worst winter conditions.

DATSUN
is all you really need

At Datsun we build solid, reliable automobiles that meet every Canadian safety and pollution control requirement. But, because it's still nice to drive something you can love a little too, we make a choice of Datsun models... sedans, a fastback, a wagon, a pickup and even a GT sports car. Datsun is all the car (and all the cars) you really need.

DATSUN 1800 SEDAN from $2415* the more-for-your-money car

*Suggested retail price F.O.B. Vancouver, Toronto, Montreal, Halifax warehouses. Local freight, licence, provincial tax, if applicable, extra.

26. MORTGAGES, LOANS

Special deals for homeowners at Associates

If you're buying your house, you're eligible for a special Homeowner Loan at Associates any time you need cash.

That means we may be able to give you a better deal. Lower rates ... or longer terms ... or even both.

The amount you can borrow is limited only by the equity you have in your home. $5,000, $10,000, maybe $25,000 or more.

So if you have or if you need cash for a second car, a boat, or any other good reason, talk to Associates about a low interest Homeowner Loan. See how much better off you'll be — long-term.

WORLD BRIEFS

DRIVERS ARE 'SINNERS'
MADRID (Reuter) — Msgr. Yanes Alvarez, auxiliary bishop of Oviedo, says a careless driver is a sinner in the eyes of God, even if he causes no accident but endangers his own life and the lives of others. He spoke in an interview in the Madrid daily newspaper ABC.

JAIL FOR HAIR
MANILA (Reuter) — Men with hair covering their eyebrows and ears risk 15 to 30 days in jail and a $15 fine under a town bylaw at suburban Makati, south of Manila, Mayor Nemesio Yabut announced at the weekend. The law applies to visitors as well as residents.

FIRING HALTED
HONG KONG (Reuter) — The Chinese army announced Monday a two-day ceasefire in its shelling of the Nationalist-held Quemoy Islands because of the Chinese new year. Shore batteries have shelled the islands every second day since the mid-1950s.

WRECKAGE FOUND
GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — A team of divers positively identified ship wreckage in the Gulf of Mexico Sunday as the tanker V. A. Fogg, missing since Feb. 1 along with its crew of 39, the coast guard said. Indications were that a fire had swept the 572-foot tanker.

BOMB IS PLANTED
OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A pipe bomb exploded outside the unoccupied Republican party headquarters of Alameda County Sunday night. Police said damage was minor and no one was hurt. A police officer said the bomb shattered a plate-glass window and chipped away part of a stone pillar.

USED COMPANY TRUCK
WINNIPEG (CP) — Thieves who broke into a furniture store found they had no way to remove the furniture they wanted. So they stole one of the company trucks, transported the stolen furniture to its destination and then returned the truck.

Canadian Merchant Marine Urged In Brief By CLC

OTTAWA (CP)—The govern-ment should act immediately to set up a Canadian-flag merchant marine, the Canadian Labor Congress maritime committee said today in a brief to the federal cabinet.

The brief did not rule out private ownership of a new merchant fleet but said operation should be through a Crown corporation.

"A Canadian merchant fleet would add to the net benefits of Canada," the committee, representing maritime unions affiliated with the CLC, said in the brief to a cabinet delegation headed by Transport Minister Don Jamieson.

"It would alleviate the heavy burden of unemployment. There is no justification for further unavailability."

The committee suggested a publicly-owned merchant fleet would require fewer financial incentives than a privately-owned one and could be competitive even on routes which would be only marginally attractive to private firms.

Government assistance to shipbuilding has helped improve the situation in Canadian yards in the last couple of years, the committee brief said. The yards had become more aggressive in seeking new business.

Canadian coastal trade should be reserved for Canadian-flag vessels with use of non-Canadian ships allowed only where suitable Canadian vessels are unavailable.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

When Doctor Finds Fibroid Tumors

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 33 with a child a year and a half old. My last checkup with my OB doctor revealed a fibroid tumor.

He did not tell me the size but did say surgery was not needed, but he would not prescribe birth control pills for me.

Now that I know it is there I can feel it on my left side. When is surgery recommended? Is another pregnancy advisable now? Will the tumor grow? I think I may have had this tumor for years. Could this have caused a miscarriage three years ago?—Mrs. J.A.M.

First of all, fibroid tumors of the uterus are not at all uncommon. They can be large or small, single or multiple.

Your doctor said "no" on birth control pills as a precaution; he wants to avoid the chance that the hormones in the pills might speed up growth of the fibroid.

In the majority of cases, these fibroids cause little or no trouble, and it is accepted practice to leave them alone—but keep track of whether they are growing, or remaining static. It is quite possible that you may have had yours for some time.

If a fibroid becomes large enough to cause trouble—bleeding, discomfort, or the like—that is time enough to remove it. It isn't causing any trouble, then leave it alone. Indeed, fibroids quite often shrink after menopause, and in that case nothing ever need be done about them.

If surgical removal is necessary, occasionally a fibroid can be taken out without removing the whole uterus (hysterectomy) but not often. More generally, the uterus has to be sacrificed, and that is a good reason for not resorting to surgery in a woman your age.

Whether the fibroid has anything to do with your miscarriage is problematical. Maybe, maybe not. The presence of fibroids does, in some cases, interfere with pregnancy or prevent it. However, the fact that you have since had a healthy baby is proof that you can have children, fibroids or not.

You didn't ask, but I dare say you are wondering whether a fibroid means cancer. In general fibroids are not cancerous; like any other tissue in the body, they may become malignant, but not just because it is a fibroid. If bleeding, undue growth or any other sign discloses cancer, then of course it must be removed, but there is no reason for you to expect that.

Your doctor knows the fibroid is there. He will check it from time to time. Just let it rest that way.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband will be an alcoholic if he is not stopped in time. Can a doctor give pills so you won't want so much alcohol? I understand there are such pills.—Mrs. M.K.

Yes, there are such medications, Antabuse being the best known. These medications have to be given under a physician's supervision. The principle is that when a person is taking them, he becomes violently ill if he drinks any alcohol. The catch is that the person has to be willing to take the medication. Not all do. But in the right case this can be effective and helpful.

Note to Mrs. C.J.: This continued painful intercourse is not normal. It may be due to a hymen that is thicker and tougher than usual, or vaginal inflammation, or inadequate lubrication. Whichever, it probably can be corrected quite readily, so go to your doctor before you suffer any more.

Opening lead—four of spades. Here is a gem of purest ray serene. The deal occurred in the U.S.-Italy match in 1968. It features exceptionally good defense by the Italian stars, Forquet and Garozzo.

Jordan, playing with Robinson, won the spade lead in dummy and first had to decide whether to establish dummy's hearts or his own clubs. Very properly, he decided that hearts offered a better chance, and accordingly he played a low heart from dummy at trick two.

Had Forquet followed low—as any other civilized human being would have done—Jordan's nine would have forced the ace and he would surely have made the slam.

But Forquet put up the queen, acting very much like a man with the A-Q, and returned a club.

Jordan won with the ace, played the A-K of trumps, then cashed the king of clubs, hoping to gather still more information about the adverse distribution before committing himself on the next play.

But all he got was misinformation, for Garozzo played the queen of clubs on the king, acting as though he had started with the doubleton queen.

It is difficult to fault Jordan for concluding, under the circumstances, that he had a better chance of finding East with the ace of hearts than of finding the clubs divided 3-3.

Backing his judgment, Jordan played a third round trump to the queen, led the king of hearts, and discarded a club. Garozzo took the king with the ace and the slam went down one as a result of the superb defense.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

Aries (March 21-April 19): Your good cheer tips the general balance in favor of achievement as your turn to be heard comes around. A short cut between yourself and what you want is temporarily wide open.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Continue defining terms and striving for understanding among vigorous, outspoken associates. Patience wins out.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Money deals include details you hadn't planned. Look before signing. People want your opinion on many things but may not offer much in immediate return.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Set up an important interview for what you have to offer. Initiative builds toward a burst of energy late in the day along with an urge to do something special.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Concentrate on career building, business dealings, exchanges. Friends are off in another direction, not to be drafted to do anything for you at the moment.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Self-sufficiency is your goal as local arrangements encounter lapses, failures of co-ordination. See that temperament doesn't upset anything.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Discretion, formality and strongly protective approaches. You are apt to get in over your head with high stakes on what should be innocent games.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Take a broken promise in stride; not much is really lost. Discuss career questions, but not in public. Important decisions are not ripe yet.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): New enterprises are favored, should be vigorously promoted. Fresh faces, local travels provide stimulus.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Caution and management may cover your welfare and that of others as well. Do what is needed unselfishly. Your advice comes into good use if you're graceful in offering it.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Usually you can get people to do things that get your enterprises off a dull spot, but today you must do most of it yourself.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Early hours show mixed influences, family and home arrangements not well synchronized, but getting there shortly.

Don't Send Dog On These Trips

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Two Soviet psychiatrists have found that cannabis resin, derivative of marijuana, can kill dogs.

A. I. Durandini, of the Kirgiz Government Medical Institute and V. A. Romashenko of the Soviet Academy of Medical Science report this in the UN quarterly Bulletin on Narcotics.

They took 14 healthy dogs weighing 10-40 pounds and fed them half-ounce to three-ounce doses of the resin of Yujno-chuisk cannabis, a Kirgiz variety of marijuana. Most were stimulated at first. They barked, whined and ignored shouts from the experimenters. But within 24 hours all became depressed.

"Two dogs which were in a state of prostration or medium depression died after three to six days," the scientists relate. Five were in such poor shape they were put to death.

Nixon Seeks Expert Advice

WASHINGTON (AP) — With his departure for Peking only three days off, President Nixon has asked his staff for more information and called in French intellectual Andre Malraux for expert advice on China.

Malraux, former French cultural minister, meets today with Nixon who, in disclosing plans for the meeting, said he was impressed with Malraux's analysis, in his Antimemoires, of China and Chairman Mao and Premier Chou En-lai.

Nixon still is not satisfied with the mountains of material with which he's been provided. Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon, returning from Florida Sunday night, asked the National Security Council for more answers.

Peachland ACW Meet

PEACHLAND (Special) — The regular meeting of the Peachland Anglican Church Women was held Friday at the home of Mrs. Keith Baker on Lake Avenue. Arrangements were made to take part in the Women's World Day of Prayer to be held this year at the United Church with Mrs. D. E. Sutherland representing the ACW at this service.

Discussion was held on the bazaar and materials for knitting and embroidery were passed out to members by the work committee.

Discussed was the arrival of the church's new minister and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. Raymond G. Bray, who will reside in Westbank, and start weekly services this month at St. Margarets. Rev. and Mrs. Bray come from the parish of Fernie.

HOW ABOUT YOU?

At Investors we're helping a lot of people toward a more secure, financially independent retirement and they are doing it with dollars which would normally be paid to the government in income tax.

There's no magic to the tax savings — it's approved by the Canadian government. What is of great importance to you is that once having started a Registered Retirement Savings Plan, that its investment growth be maximized so that your retirement fund accomplishes what you want.

Investors have two investment vehicles which are tax free for registered plans. And you should see what that does to investment growth. No tax on capital gains, no tax on dividends or interest earnings.

INVESTORS GUARANTEED INVESTMENTS

Called the Money Accumulation Plan, it is a fixed

Mrs. Iona Peel Elected As Rutland WI President

RUTLAND (Special) — Rutland Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Arthur Gray, Black Road, for their annual general meeting.

Owing to the illness of the president, Mrs. Jack Baustad, vice-president, Mrs. Iona Peel, conducted the proceedings.

Mrs. R. E. Gunner, secretary-treasurer, gave the financial statement and a short report on the past year's activities. The election of officers for the new year then took place, with the following officers being chosen: president, Mrs. Iona Peel; vice-president, Mrs. Donald McNiven; and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. R. E. Gunner. Others elected to the executive were Mrs. George Flegel and Mrs. Arthur Gray. Mrs. Wesley Barber was re-elected as Agricultural Convener, a committee that she has headed for a number of years. Mrs. Gunner assumed the chairmanship of the Social Welfare and the Citizenship committees. Chairman of the Home Economics committee is Mrs. D. McNiven.

The annual donations to the Queen Alexandra Solarium at Victoria, the Crippled Children's Hospital and the Pennies for Friendship fund were made.

The forthcoming Biennial Women's Institute Conference was also discussed. This will be the first time the conference has been held in the Interior. The University of B.C. has been the site of previous conferences.

This year the conference will be at Naramata, from June 5 to 8. No delegate was appointed at this time but it was hoped that the local WI would be represented.

An outing during the summer was discussed and it was decided to visit the Okanagan Game Farm near Penticton in June. This outing will take the place of the annual Christmas party that had to be cancelled due to bad weather and road conditions.

The next meeting of the Women's Institute will be held at the home of the new president, Mrs. Iona Peel, Stafford Road, on Wednesday, March 8 at 2:00 p.m. Visitors or new members are welcome.

SPEED WINS IT

TRURO, England (Reuter) — Henry put on a rare burst of speed over a two-foot course in this western England city Sunday to become the world's new snail race champion. Henry, owned by Christopher Hudson, 16, of Brighton, beat 60 other competitors with a time of one minute 40 seconds. The previous champion, Colly, who was also owned by Christopher, had a record time of three minutes.
